

Rural Renewal Stream (RRS) Process

Employer

Subcommittee

Candidate

Employers with vacancies must submit application to the Rural Renewal Stream online.

The subcommittee reviews applications and may conduct eligibility interviews with employers

Once approved, the subcommittee will link employers to the job posting board.

Prospective candidates can review postings and apply directly to the employer.

Employers will follow their organizational hiring processes to fill vacancies.

The employer will apply to the Rural Renewal Stream program for letter of endorsement on behalf of the candidate.

Upon acceptance, the Economic Development Officer will issue a letter of endorsement directly to the candidate.

Candidates must apply for provincial nomination through the Alberta Advantage Immigration Program (AAIP) portal.

The candidates are added to the Jobs and Economy database for ongoing updates and support as they move through the immigration process and integrate into the community.
